Membership Level Names — Palestine boasts rich native flora and a wide range of adopted plants. Its landscape has been shaped by its celebrated native vegetation, like the olive tree and the Jaffa orange, as well the Zaatar (Oregano) and flowers which have provided spice and fragrance for centuries. Palestine's revered horticultural traditions are often not particularly native to the region, but have become embedded in local practices over time, contributing to the overall unique botanical culture. In recognition of this special relationship Palestinians maintain with the nourishment of their landscape and ecology, we have endowed our categories of membership with the names of some of the most popular plants, which are grown in the Palestinian Museum's gardens. We do hope you come visit and experience firsthand this proud collection of time-honored flora.

The membership circle names are in Palestinian Arabic dialect: Zaatar (Oregano), Khuzama (Lavender), Sawsan (Iris), and Zaytoun (Olive).
